In order to ensure the security of Evolution Group buildings, employees and customers, we have placed CCTV (close circuit television cameras) on Evolution operating premises and areas.

This privacy notice (hereinafter "Notice") provides you information regarding how we are processing personal data regarding CCTV.

In case you have additional questions, please contact our Data Protection Team at dataprivacy@ezugi.com.

What is the personal data collected and for what purpose?

The CCTV cameras capture your image, movements and activities while you are visiting our locations. By entering specific rooms or areas we also might capture audio-visual information, this information will be indicated in the CCTV warning sign.

Please note that you are informed about CCTV cameras placement with corresponding CCTV warning signs before entering the monitored area.

Ezugi complies with legal obligations and regulations towards CCTV placement; therefore, CCTV cameras are not placed in areas where you expect the total privacy (e.g., WC, changing rooms).

Ezugi has placed CCTV cameras at all operating sites for several business purposes such as:

- To ensure the physical security of our employees, customers, and service providers;
- To ensure the security of our premises and property;
- To detect and investigate any criminal activities and to act as a deterrent to crime;
- To use as evidence in legal claims or disputes, including as support for any type of investigations and disciplinary procedures;
- To assist in day-to-day management, including ensuring the health and safety of staff.

This list is not exhaustive and other purposes may be or become relevant.

Ezugi does not use personal data obtained through CCTV devices to make automated decisions, including profiling.

Where may we disclose and transfer your personal data?

Since Ezugi operates worldwide the CCTV recordings might be shared between Evolution Group entities. The recordings are shared only if an adequate security level is ensured, and all legal requirements are met.

Ezugi will not disclose this data to any third parties without legal grounds. We might share the recordings with the police or other public institutions, if necessary. In case of legal claims or disputes, we may share the recordings with third parties (e.g., lawyers, insurance companies).

Ezugi ensures that all necessary, appropriate security measures are in place to keep and process your personal data securely. The physical, technological infrastructure and recordings are stored and backed-up internally. We have implemented appropriate technical, physical and organizational measures to protect CCTV recordings from unauthorized or accidental destruction, alteration or disclosure, misuse, damage, theft or accidental loss, or unauthorized access.

Generally, the CCTV footage is kept for a period of up to 30 days from the time of recording unless otherwise required by local legislation or legal requirements. Certain areas, namely our game floors and back-office operations, may have a longer general storage period of 90 days, namely due to the higher sensitivity and vulnerability of those areas.

In the event of an incident, potential or ongoing investigation or claim, the CCTV recording may be retained for a period until the incident, or the claim is finalised or if it is required to be stored by legal obligations.
